Edition 1 | October 2026

How to use this toolkit

Households planning a move from the UK or Ireland to the Republic of Cyprus, with a separate route assessment for every person.

Read the guide first, then use the Word templates to record decisions and the Excel workbook for calculations and follow up. Workbooks open as blank templates. Use your own figures and retain evidence behind important decisions. The worked examples are illustrative and are not quotations or forecasts.

These materials support practical planning. Obtain current advice from the appropriate authority or qualified professional for legal, tax, immigration, healthcare and technical safety decisions. Do not store passwords, access codes, payment data or identity document numbers in shared templates.

01 Set the household decision plan

Choose a target move date and identify the decisions that control it: suitable housing, each person's right to reside and work, healthcare continuity, affordable finances and practical transport. Record whether the date is provisional or committed. Give each task one owner, a target date and evidence of completion. A task should not be marked complete because an email was sent if the decision depends on receiving an answer. Keep a fallback date and an affordable temporary arrangement in case one dependency is delayed.

Assess each household member separately. Citizenship, family relationship, work status and residence history can produce different requirements within the same household. A UK immigration status does not automatically establish a right to live in Cyprus. Irish or other EU citizenship also does not mean every administrative condition disappears. Use current official guidance and obtain advice for the person's actual circumstances. This planner organises the work; it does not select a legal route or certify eligibility. Write the source and date beside every important route decision and revisit it before booking irreversible commitments.

Map the critical dependencies

List the decisions that control travel, housing and income. Give each one an owner and evidence of completion. Record a realistic alternative date. Review the unresolved dependencies before paying for commitments that cannot readily be changed or refunded.
